RELIGIOUS DISCOURSE IN THE ALBANIAN LANGUAGE

Religious discourse in the Albanian language constitutes a specific field in Albanian vocabulary, which is continuously extending its use in specialized discourse (in various fields) and in different social strata.

Religious discourse is one of the earliest lecture and chronological it remains an inexhaustible source of written Albanian, which also increases the responsibility to devote more to this important field.

Specialized discourse (whether in the field of religion or in various fields) continues to inherit unresolved language problems. This paper will also address problems related to a phenomenon affecting the field of religious texts in Albanian language.

Under the influence of foreign languages and lack of linguistic editing of many textbooks of madrasas but also of Islamic Studies Faculties, incorrect translations are found. Also in use unfortunately are some words in Albanian so-called borrowings; subjective, unnecessary borrowings (luxury borrowing in other words).
